Income-Driven Repayment and Public Service Loan Forgiveness Program Account Adjustment

U.S. Department of Education (ED) revealed several changes and updates that will bring borrowers closer to forgiveness under income-driven repayment (IDR) plans. ED will begin work on implementing these changes immediately, but borrowers will not see the effect in their accounts until fall of 2022. Learn more about the account adjustment.

PSLF Information

If you currently work or previously worked full-time for a government or not-for-profit, you may qualify for Public Service Loan forgiveness. Now, for a limited time through October 31st, 2022, borrowers may receive credit for past periods of repayment that would otherwise not qualify for PSLF. If you have any FFELP loans or Perkins, those loans must be consolidated into a Direct Consolidation Loan by October 31st, 2022, since only Direct Loans are eligible for PSLF. Before you consolidate or apply for PSLF, you can verify eligible employment by completing Step 1 of the PSLF help tool at StudentAid.gov.

Student Loan Debt Relief

On Aug. 24, 2022, the Biden-Harris Administration announced a Student Debt Relief Plan that includes one-time student loan debt relief targeted to low- and middle-income families.

The U.S. Department of Education will provide up to $20,000 in debt relief to Federal Pell Grant recipients and up to $10,000 in debt relief to non-Pell Grant recipients. Borrowers with loans held by U.S. Department of Education are eligible for this relief if their individual income is less than $125,000 (or $250,000 for households). Nearly 8 million borrowers may be eligible to receive relief automatically because relevant income data is already available to the U.S. Department of Education. If the U.S. Department of Education doesn't have your income data, the Administration will launch a simple application which will be available by early October. Once a borrower completes the application, they can expect relief within 4-6 weeks. Borrowers are advised to apply before November 15th in order to receive relief before the payment pause expires on December 31, 2022.
